

Android DNS Setup

This guide explains how to set up the DNS filtering by changing the DNS server on the Android device.

For the Android Private DNS setup, please use this guide.

1. Navigate to the SafeDNS Dashboard > Settings and copy your IP address in the "Enter an IP address or DynDNS" box. Click "Add".

The screenshot shows the SafeDNS dashboard with the following elements:

- Left Sidebar: Contains navigation options: Main, User administration, Settings (marked with a red arrow and '1'), Devices (marked with a red arrow and '2'), Policy, Schedule, Advanced, Categories, Allowlist, Denylist, Stats, New Stats (Beta), Help, and Account.
- Top Tabs: Devices (selected), Policy, Schedule, Advanced.
- Main Content Area:
 - Your IP address: A red bar with a red arrow pointing to it and the text "Copy ip address" above it.
 - IPv4 DNS-servers addresses: 195.46.39.39 and 195.46.39.40.
 - IPv6 DNS-servers addresses: 2001:67c:2778::3939 and 2001:67c:2778::3940.
 - DoH address: https://doh.safedns.com.
- IP addresses/DynDNS Section:
 - Header: IP addresses/DynDNS 0/13.
 - Form: "Add IP address or DynDNS" with fields for "Enter an IP-address or DynDNS" (with a red arrow and "Past ip address" label), "Default" (with a red arrow and "Select filtering policy" label), and "Comment". Buttons for "Add" and "Edit as List" are present.
 - Table: A table with columns "IP address/DynDNS", "Policy", and "Comment". The content below the table is "List is empty".

Please note, that the Android user interface varies depending on the device model.

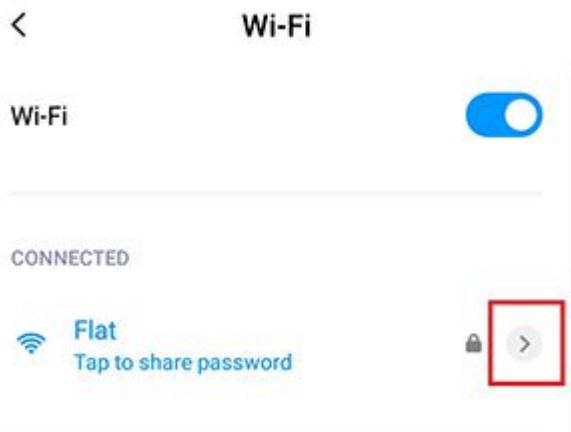

2. Open the "Settings" app and navigate to the Wi-Fi menu.

Settings

-  System apps updater >
-  Security status >

-  SIM cards & mobile networks >
-  Wi-Fi Flat >
-  Bluetooth Off >
-  Portable hotspot Off >
-  VPN >
-  More >

3. Press on arrow icon of your current Wi-Fi connection.

4. In the Network Details press on the "IP settings - DHCP".

5. Select the Static option and add the following addresses to DNS1 and DNS2 fields:
195.46.39.39 and 195.46.39.40

Once the addresses are added, press the checkmark icon to save the settings.
